For Monopoly, Anyone?

A news report says that the game of Monopoly has risen from limbo of 20 years ago and is once again sweeping the country.

This editor can understand this, but the $64 question is why did it die 20 years ago.

We have the answer for that one. Monopoly simply ran out of players durable enough to stay up until 4 a.m. in a fruitless battle to extricate themselves from bankruptcy.

Curiously enough, the owners of the game have a monopoly themselves: Parker, Inc., game specialists of Salem, Mass. Game instructions are enlightening—for novices; veteran players are so full of bankruptcy and frustration a public reading of the instructions would provoke violence.

"The idea of the game," it says here, "is to buy and rent or sell properties so that one becomes the wealthiest player and eventual winner."

That's not the way the game actually goes, to this editor's recollection, as an addict 20 years ago. You throw the dice and wind up on Electric Company and buy it for 150 game-dollars. No sooner do you buy it you discover no one's using electric appliances any more. Or you buy another leadpipe cinch, Water Works, for another $150, and immediately find everyone has quit drinking.

But the pipkin is Pennsylvania Railroad, at $200—here's something that guarantees bankruptcy in the game equal to the troubles of the real-life Pennsy.

Your editor's only investments that turned out profitably were in cheap property, like Mediterranean Avenue or Baltic, at 60 game-dollars each. Build some tenement houses on cheap property and you make money. Put up a hotel on fancy real estate and you go broke.

Monopoly—is it just a game, or have we perchance stumbled on some real-life truth?

Inaugural ceremonies begin today

By PEGGY SIMPSON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A reception for Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew this evening followed by a "salute to the states" signal the official start of President Nixon's second-term inauguration festivities.

Nixon's wife, Pat, is scheduled to pinch-hit for him at the two receptions, with the President returning from Florida sometime before he takes the oath of office Saturday at noon in front of the Capitol.

While Nixon remained at his seaside resort in Key Biscayne studying the latest developments in the Paris peace talks, backers and foes of his war policies laid plans to parade in force Saturday, Inauguration Day.

The inaugural committee estimated that 50,000 out-of-towners will come for the weekend's events, most of them for the swearing-in and inaugural parade.

More than 180 of the estimated 300 surviving Medal of Honor recipients from as far back as World War I will be honored at the inauguration, beginning with a luncheon today and at a banquet and the inaugural balls Saturday. The banquet will be hosted by one of Nixon's biggest donors, W. Clement Stone, and emceed by Bob Hope.

Fair weather swinging at Fair Park

The sun came out recently for the first time in several weeks and so did the children when the Hope Junior Auxiliary entertained students from the Hempstead County Child Development Center with a birthday party at Fair Park. Above, two of the children "do their thing" on a piece of playground equipment. In addition to sponsoring monthly parties for the children, the Junior Auxiliary organizes field trips to broaden the children's educational experiences.

Mansfield-Scott
Of same mind on end to VN war

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield foresees better relations and more understanding between President Nixon and the Democratic Congress when peace comes in Vietnam—but adds that other issues dividing them will remain.

He rejected the contention of Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, that congressional threats to cut off war spending have lengthened the Vietnam conflict.

"My reaction would be just the contrary," he said, "because the Congress provides the money and the Congress has a constitutional duty to play in any war in which we're engaged."

The Democratic leader said in an interview that a Vietnam settlement "will in my opinion react to the President's favor and bring about a better and more understanding feeling between the executive and legislative branches.

"But the other issues will remain because their effects run through the Congress, the impounding of funds and other great constitutional questions," Mansfield said.

Nixon is withholding some $8 billion in appropriations voted by Congress, in an administration drive to hold down the federal budget.

Mansfield said he believes "Congress will face up to its responsibilities" and invoke its own ceiling on federal spending.

"In effect, it has been forced to by the action which the President initiated last year to give him the right to set a spending ceiling," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott says a settlement of the Vietnam war would strengthen President Nixon's hand in dealing with the Democratic Congress, adding that when peace comes "much will be forgiven" in the controversy between the White House and Capitol Hill.

At the same time, Scott said the threat by congressional critics to seek a cutoff of war appropriations "has in my opinion lengthened the duration of the war."

"The debate was proper—but ill-advised," the Pennsylvania senator said in an interview. He said the only thing that "can now upset the peace" is the possibility that Hanoi may be misled by critics of Nixon's policy.

Scott said the impact of the congressional antiwar effort

"has been to cause Hanoi to drag its feet over a period of years and to indulge itself in the hope that, what it could not win through diplomatic of military action, it could now win through political action.

"This will not happen and Hanoi by now is aware of it," he added.

Scott said a settlement "will greatly strengthen the President with the public. As he is strengthened with the public, so will he be strengthened with the Congress."

He said he expects an increase in goodwill between the President and Congress, though conceding "it will take some generosity of mind on the part of both the legislative and executive to achieve it."

Top-level peace talks will resume

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (ap) — The Florida White House and Hanoi jointly announced today that top-level Paris peace talks will be resumed Tuesday "for the purpose of completing the text of an agreement."

Emphasizing that he was reading language approved by both the United States and North Vietnam, press secretary

Ronald L. Ziegler said: "Dr. Henry Kissinger will resume private negotiations with special adviser Le Duc Tho and Minister Xuan Thuy on Jan. 23, 1973 for the purpose of completing the text of an agreement."

would leave Washington Monday for Paris and said he could not predict how long the envoy might remain.

Asked if this would be the final meeting of Kissinger and Tho, Ziegler said, "the announcement will have to speak for itself."

Ziegler said the United States would have no comment on the negotiations "until a final agreement is reached."

At another point, he said: "We are interested in ending this war as soon as possible and ending it through negotiations."

Asked if a cease-fire might take effect in Indochina prior to completion of the promised peace agreement, Ziegler said "there has been an awful lot of speculation along that line," but added he was not prepared to "address that speculation" whether it is right or wrong.

Pounding by US planes continue

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes flew more than 400 strikes across South Vietnam Wednesday and today, the U.S. Command announced. It was the second day of heavy air attack and the largest number of strikes in the South in more than two months.

The raids appeared aimed at putting South Vietnamese forces in the best possible military position before a cease-fire agreement is signed.

Many of the strikes were concentrated just below the demilitarized zone, where North Vietnam is claiming a strip of territory 10 miles deep and 40 miles wide that its troops captured during the Communist offensive last year.

The Saigon government wants the demarcation line restored at the 17th parallel, across the middle of the DMZ.

The South Vietnamese command reported heavy fighting in the region just below the DMZ, both to the north and south of Quang Tri City. The command said 77 North Vietnamese troops were killed and 49 weapons were captured, while South Vietnamese losses were 10 men killed and 51 wounded, the command said.

Three of the U.S. air strikes in the Hiep Duc Valley below Da Nang accidentally hit South Vietnamese troops, the U.S. Command said. One South Vietnamese soldier was killed and four were wounded when three Air Force F4 Phantoms each dropped a 500-pound bomb.

A U.S. spokesman said the bombs were directed at an enemy position and were on target but the South Vietnamese troops were too close. He said the strikes were being directed by a South Vietnamese forward air controller.

It was the third accidental bombing in 10 days in the Da Nang region.

The U.S. Command reported 335 fighter-bomber strikes during the 24 hours that ended at 8 a.m. today.

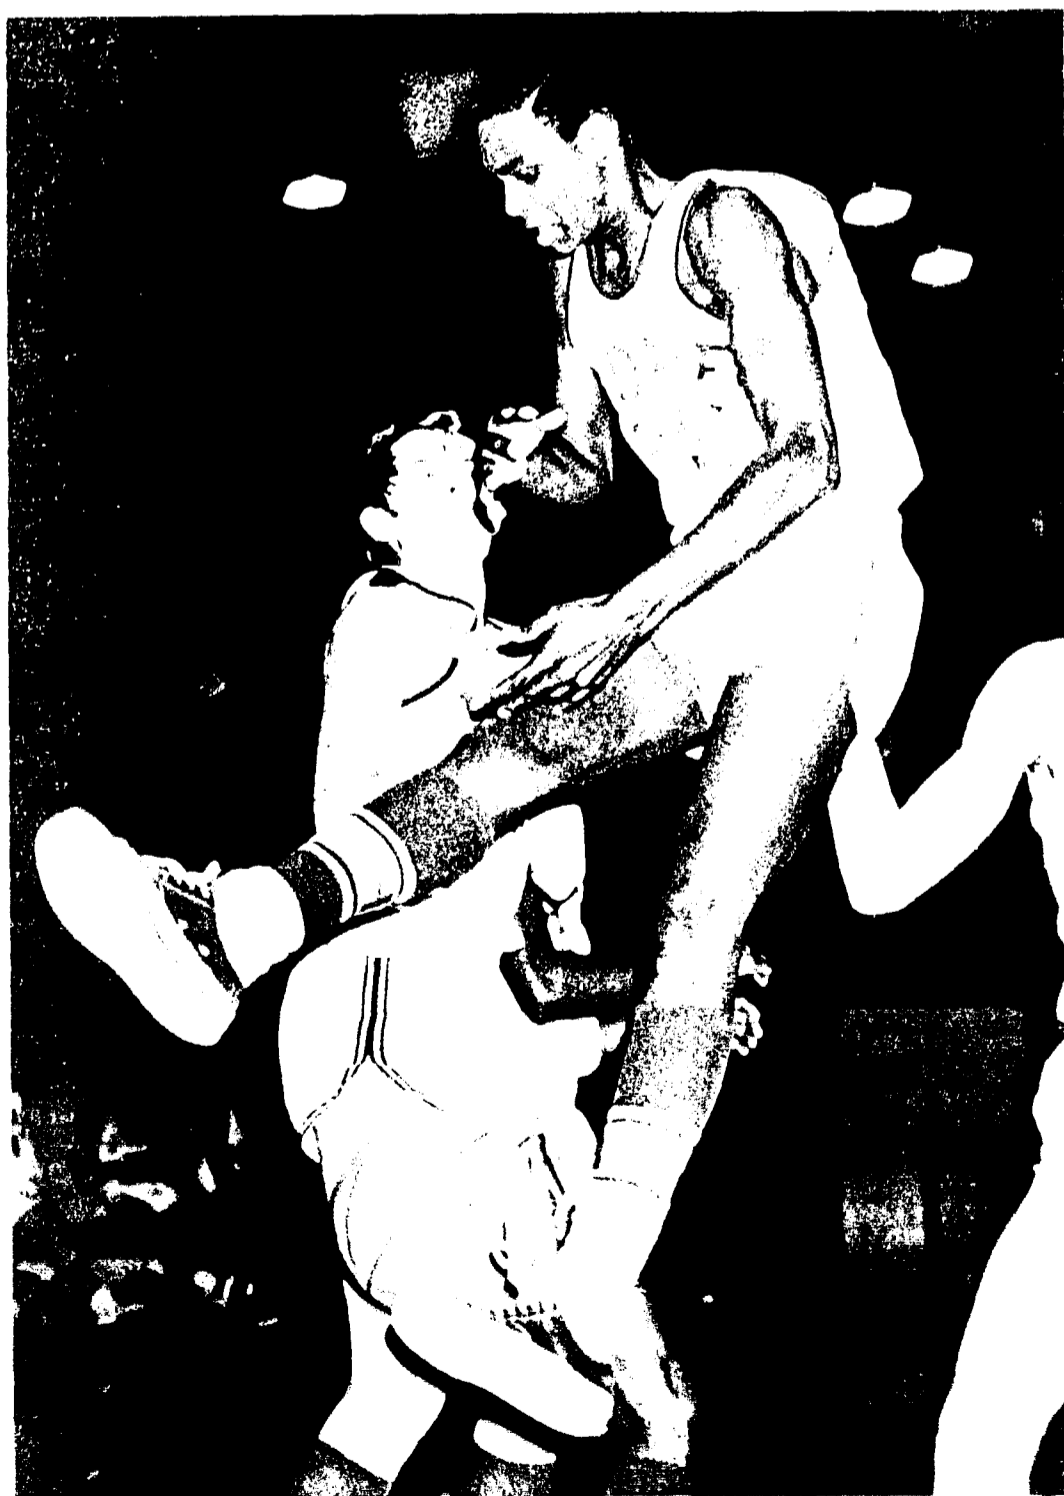

552 bombers flew 90 strikes, dropping about 2,700 tons of explosives, U.S. officials said.

2 Americans killed in VN

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command reported today that two Americans were killed in action in Indochina last week, 11 were wounded and six are missing or captured. Two other Americans died from nonhostile causes, the command reported.

A spokesman explained later that the two Americans listed as killed in action actually did not die last week. Their status was changed during the week by the Pentagon from missing to dead. The spokesman said both were airmen but he did not know when or where they were downed.

South Vietnamese battlefield deaths rose to 476. It was the highest toll since last Nov. 19-25, the Saigon command reported.

About those invitations. . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you haven't received an invitation to President Nixon's inaugural, don't feel snubbed.

If you have received one, don't be too sure it'll get you in.

The sweet smell of success—translated into money contributed in chunks to the right political candidates—is probably the only foolproof way to get a choice invitation to the posh inaugural events.

But as thousands of Americans found out, not all invitations are equal.

About 200,000 persons opened over-sized, cream-colored envelopes to find engraved invitations to "attend and participate" in the inauguration. However, small slips of paper inside the envelopes said the suitable-for-framing invitations are only souvenirs.

An even more select group of 40,000, mostly Republicans, got the real thing—conventional-size engraved invitations on heavy ivory-tinted stock. But they'll still have to shell out $40 each for a ball ticket Saturday night or $10 to attend the reception for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew this evening.

The most "in" invitations are to the swearing-in ceremony at the Capitol Saturday afternoon.

These invitations—engraved on stiff, parchment-like white paper—are truly different: no money is required if you accept.

Invitations to the oath-taking are being handled by the Joint Congressional Committee on Inaugural Ceremonies, a bipartisan body whose co-chairmen are Sens. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., and Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev. There are bench seats for 19,200 and standing room for 60,000 more.

The President and vice president have an allotment of about 5,000 places. Each senator is given 155—13 seats and 142 standing-room spots. Each House member gets nine seats and 57 standee spaces.

Automatically on the list are Cabinet members, the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps, presidential electors, state senators, Medal of Honor winners and members of Congress.

Powell Moore, press director of the Inaugural Committee, says the "souvenir" invitation list is basically composed of persons who worked for the party but probably don't want to come to Washington.

The Inaugural Committee hopes to reap $4 million from the three-day gala, more than enough to cover expenses.

The hottest seller for the invitation-only events are the tickets for the five black-tie balls. Nearly 28,000 tickets, costing a minimum $15, have been processed and officials expect 30,000.

Legislative action in House, Senate heats up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Legislative activity picked up Wednesday with the Arkansas Senate passing a bill to provide a percentage of the state's general revenues for cities and counties and the House approving a $700,000 appropriation to help finance a new football stadium at Arkansas State University.

The controversial bill by Sen. John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville to designate 7 per cent of the general revenues as funds for cities and counties is enabling legislation. Before cities and counties would get the money, the measure would have to be approved by the House and an appropriation bill would need approval of both chambers.

Bearden's bill was approved on a vote of 21-12. The appropriation measure for the proposed new ASU stadium cleared the House on a vote of 89-5 without debate and was sent to the Senate.

Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock delayed the dispatching of the cities and counties bill to the House when he gave notice of reconsideration, which means he may ask for another vote by the Senate on the same bill within three days.

Allen is one of the closest allies of Gov. Dale Bumpers, who vigorously opposed the bill.

The measure would provide cities and counties with about $25 million to $28 million annually. Bumpers has proposed giving them about $14 million annually. Under current law, they get $12 million.

The bill would give 3 per cent of the state revenue to counties and 4 per cent to cities.

The vote on the bill came after a debate of about an hour. The Senate galleries were packed with city and county officials who cheered those who spoke in favor of the measure.

Allen said that it would be "financially irresponsible to begin the dangerous precedent of dividing up state revenues on a percentage basis."

Bumpers has said that if such a precedent were set, other state agencies also would want a percentage of the state's general revenues.

Bearden said, however, that there was "no way we can make a valid comparison between cities and counties and the other single-purpose agencies of the state."

Bearden also pointed out that constitutional offices are allotted a percentage of the revenues and the cities and counties bill would not set a precedent.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift-on agreed with Allen that passage of the bill would set "a dangerous precedent."

"I don't think this will be the last opportunity to make a decision on how much money we're going to allocate to cities and counties," Harvey said. "I sincerely doubt the wisdom of allocating money on a percentage basis."

Sen. Bill Walmsley of Batesville said he favored giving more money to cities and counties but he said he favored a bill that has been introduced in the House that would provide a total of $18 million for cities and counties.

"There would be just a little difference in the amount of money and we wouldn't set the precedent so others could come back and ask for a percentage," Walmsley said.

Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock, chief sponsor of the measure to provide the money for the ASU stadium, said each $1 of state funds would be matched with $2 in private donations for a total project of $2.1 million.

Resolution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate Wednesday passed a resolution confirming the results of a Dec. 3 drawing to determine the terms of state senators.

Members of the Senate revealed Wednesday which of their number drew terms of two years and which drew terms of four years. The senators had maintained almost total silence since the drawing, which was held at a duck dinner.

The drawing is required by the state Constitution following elections in the wake of redistricting subsequent to each decennial census.

The resolution passed on a vote of 32-1, with Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers, the only Republican in the Senate, casting the negative vote.

Road bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill to create a state aid system of county roads and finance their improvement with part of the state's federal revenue sharing funds was introduced Wednesday in the Arkansas House.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Roger Logan of Harrison and Frank Henslee of Pine Bluff, would allocate $7 million annually from the state's $18.3 million portion of revenue sharing funds for paving and reconstruction of the county roads, most of which are unpaved.

Logan said the bill would "give a shot in the arm to the rural road program," which some legislative critics have said has suffered from neglect by the state Highway Commission.

In addition to the revenue sharing funds, half of all federal aid secondary road funds allocated to the state would be set aside for use on county secondary road projects.

Another proposal already has been made by Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock to use all of the revenue sharing funds for state highway construction, but not rural road improvements.

Under the Logan-Henslee bill, counties could match the state aid and receive $7 in state aid for every $3 they put up.

The bill would call for the creation of a state aid system with a total of not more than 10,000 miles, including any municipal streets that might be made a part of the system. But the first 5,000 miles of the system would include all county roads on the federal aid secondary road system.

No county would have less than 50 miles in the system initially and less than 100 miles when the full 10,000-mile system were developed.

Reps. John Lipton of Warren and Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs introduced a bill to require cash funds of state agencies and institutions, including the colleges and universities, to be deposited in the state treasury. The bill was recommended by the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee.

Rep. J.K. Mahony II of El Dorado introduced a resolution asking Gov. Dale Bumpers to instruct state fiscal officials to study President Nixon's budget message when it is presented to Congress to determine major implications on the state resulting from proposed federal changes.

Rep. Lloyd McCuiston of West Memphis proposed a resolution calling for federal officials to name the Interstate 40 bridge across the Mississippi River at Memphis after explorer Hernando DeSoto.

Rep. Bob Traylor of North Little Rock introduced a bill to create a board to regulate the practice of social work.

Anti-war rally is slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip Hart and the Rev. Philip Berrigan head the speakers list for an antiwar rally which sponsors say is expected to draw tens of thousands for President Nixon's second inauguration.

Organizers say talk of a Vietnam cease-fire and a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam have not dampened enthusiasm for a weekend of antiwar activities, which has been endorsed by more than 30 members of Congress.

Nearly all the divergent groups planning to demonstrate emphasize peaceful mass protest as a means of pressuring Nixon to begin his second term with a quick end to the war.

Jerry Gordon, coordinator of the National Peace Action Coalition, said about 1,000 volunteer marshals will be trained to keep order at the rally on the grounds of the Washington Monument.

Predicting tens of thousands will travel to Washington Saturday, Gordon said Wednesday: "The momentum which has been developed has not been slowed by the temporary end to bombing above the 17th Parallel."

Bank directors elected at meet

Shareholders of the First National Bank elected 13 directors as members of the board for 1973 at the annual shareholders meeting. Of 20,000 shares outstanding 14,605 were represented in person.

Directors re-elected to the board were Guy E. Basye, Herbert Burns, J. P. Duffie, Vincent W. Foster, John B. Gardner, Jr., W. H. Gunter, Jr., Thomas E. Hays, Thomas E. Hays Jr., Ray Lawrence, Syd McMath, Earl O'Neal, James H. Pilkinton, and Lloyd Spencer.

Chairman Lloyd Spencer made the report to the shareholders, quoting figures indicating a year of growth and progress in 1972. Total assets were $22,836,766.82 as compared to $20,281,394.05 in 1971.

At the directors meeting following the shareholders meeting the following officers were re-elected: Lloyd Spencer, chairman of the board; Thomas E. Hays Jr., president and chief executive officer; Ray Lawrence, vice-president and cashier; Charles E. Sharpe, Jr., assistant vice president; Lois O'Neal, assistant cashier; Dean Black, assistant cashier; Joe Eason, assistant cashier; Brenda Calhoun, assistant cashier; and Evelyn Hughes, assistant cashier.

Mrs. Moritz feted at shower

Mrs. Frederick Kurt Moritz, nee Rhonda Moses, was feted with a bridal shower at the Unity Baptist Church Education Building on Jan. 16. Those serving as hostesses were Mesdames: Joe Frank Bobo of Magnolia, Cybron Flowers, Cannon Hollis, Gordon Renshaw, W. D. Flowers, Jack Galloway, and Clovis Hicks, all of Hope.

The honoree was attired in maroon and pink and pinned a bridal corsage at her shoulder. Her mother, Mrs. Hollis Moses, and a grandmother, Mrs. Lonnie Flowers, were among the guests.

The gifts were displayed on a table covered with a pink cloth with a bridal centerpiece. The serving table was overlaid with white nylon net and centered with pink flowers and candles in silver. Pink punch, cake squares, nuts and mints were served.

Guests are welcome; Their pets aren't

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know how to handle the problem of guests who bring their unwelcome pets when they visit.

My sister and her husband have two obnoxious poodles. They are not trained and are a menace to my children and household furnishings.

I once jokingly hinted, "I can tie our children outside if they get on your dogs' nerves." [No reaction.] These dogs have growled and snapped at our children without provocation, and our little ones are terrified of them.

On their last visit, one of the dogs lifted his leg on my collection of African violets and all my sister said was, "Whoops, Curley had an accident!" [It was no accident. It was deliberate.]

I like animals, Abby, and am not cruel to them, but these poodles are more than I can take.

I love my sister and wouldn't want her to discontinue her visits to me entirely, but how can I handle this?

DOG PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Quit hinting and joking, and tell your sister you love her, and her visits, but not her dogs! But be sure to place the blame where it belongs. Ill-mannered and untrained pets are a reflection of their ignorant, lazy owners.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother is suing his parents! How about that one?

Joe claims his parents owe him $3,000. It seems when Joe was in the service he kept sending home war bonds. Well, after Joe came out of the service the folks gave him money left and right whenever he asked for it, but they had to cash the bonds to do it, so now there are no more bonds left. Joe claims his parents OWE him the money. And the folks say they don't.

What I want to know is this: Can a guy sue his own parents?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Anybody can sue whomever he wants to sue. Whether he can WIN or not is anybody's guess—until after the case is settled.

DEAR ABBY: Because I know I speak for many women, I hope you will print this open letter to my husband.

Dear Joe [fictitious name]: You have on occasion criticized me for the way I look, and how different things are from our early years together. Well, I guess you're right. I've heard your side of the story, now here's mine:

When we were courting, you couldn't see me enough. This continued thru our honeymoon and the early months of our marriage. You really made me feel on top of the world. I knew my place in your life. But when the newness wore off, I got shoved further and further into the background. You started going places with your buddies again. Your ego and your job became more important to you than your home and family.

Maybe my figure isn't what it used to be. But pregnancies and childbirth can do that to a woman. [You've gained weight, too. What's your excuse?]

I spend four and five days and nights alone with the kids, being both mother and father to them. If you're home for supper two nights a week you think you deserve a medal. You DO support us, but the paycheck is not enough. We need your presence, too. How long do you intend to ignore the warning signals our older children have given us by the way of the distress they feel over the family being separated so much? It's high time you realize that our kids need a father, too.

So if I eat more than I should, it's only because I am so unhappy over our life and your refusal to take an active part in it.

YOUR PART-TIME WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I'm betting I get at least 100 letters asking, "Did my wife write that?"

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Murrah-Schultz vows said in Sweet Home

The wedding of Miss Marcia Darlene Murrah and James Harley Schultz was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 30, at the Sweet Home Church of Blevins.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Murrah of Prescott. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schultz of Blevins.

Grandparents of the bride are the late Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Murrah of Emmet. Grandparents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Gene Ward and the late Mr. Ward of Prescott.

The Rev. W.E. Thomason read the marriage vows. Mrs. Ricky Burke provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied Larry Burke as he sang "More" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of lustre satin fashioned with an empire bodice overlaid with pearl lace. Her veil of illusion was secured by a lace headpiece trimmed with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations topped with a white orchid.

Miss Janie Flatte, niece of the bride, was her maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length dress of red velvet fashioned with an empire bodice of white satin. Mrs. Susan Schultz of Hope, sister-in-law of the groom, served as bridesmaid. She wore a gown identical to the maid of honor.

Extension Homemakers meet Tuesday

The Melrose Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. W.A. Powell on Jan. 16. After the president, Mrs. Perry Henley, had opened the meeting, all joined in singing "Trust and Obey." The 100th Psalm was the devotion given by the hostess who also led in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Henley taught the Lesson, "Flags of Self Respect," in which she stressed "Know Thyself." Advice was given about taking children to funerals in a report from Family Life.

"Americans are the best fed but not always the best nourished," said Mrs. A.C. Kirby, Health Leader, in a report called Healthy Ideas. The hostess is also the Home Improvement Leader, and she presented plans for a 3-bedroom home with a central hall that was recommended by the extension office to meet certain needs.

Mrs. Monroe Willis read a poem "What Makes a Home?" The six members answered the roll call with Qualities I Like in a Friend. They and one guest, Mrs. Lonnie Parris, closed the meeting by repeating the Collect. Cake was served with coffee or punch.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19) A good day to bring the loose ends together. Concentrate on organizing your affairs, delegating responsibilities.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20) Aside from adding sunshine to your home life today, use of your managerial talents will improve order, economy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your creativity's contagious. Seek support for your ideas today. Others will appreciate their potential.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Light from various sources should help brighten your financial prospects. Give money matters full attention.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22) Allies are available for assistance to further your personal goals. Let friends, contacts help.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22) Your influence is more powerful today if you manage things quietly. Be unobtrusive.

Scotty Schultz of Hope served his brother as best man and Clarence Barrouge of Camden, brother-in-law of the groom, served as groomsman.

Ushers were Tommy Johnson of Prescott, nephew of the bride, and Charles Mann of Pine Bluff, cousin of the groom. Timmy Johnson of Prescott served as candlelighter.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the Sweet Home Club House. Serving at the reception were Miss Kathy Johnson, Miss Christi Murrah of Prescott and Miss Becky Flatte of Texarkana, nieces of the bride. Mrs. Donna Barrouge of Camden, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the bride's book.

After a short trip to Hot Springs the couple are making their home at No. 9 McCool Circle in Pine Bluff.

Mrs. Burtch hosts WSCS meeting

The new Circle Chairman of WSCS Circle 5, First United Methodist Church, Mrs. Charles Burtch, was hostess to the first meeting of the year on Monday night, Jan. 15. She distributed new yearbooks and appointed committee chairmen in preparation for the year's work.

Patsy Burtch, a member of the United Methodist Youth, was the program speaker and related many interesting things about a trip to Washington, D.C., and New York City which she and other Conference youth made in November. The 92 young people on two buses included three from Hope, Patsy Burtch, Mary Young and Byron Mann. The speaker illustrated her talk with snapshots she had made of interesting sights.

In addition to the 14 members and the speaker, Mrs. David Griffin was in attendance. Mrs. Donal Parker and Mrs. Burtch served home-made cookies with hot chocolate or coffee.

Yard of the Month winners

The Hope Council of Garden Clubs has announced the following winners of Yard of the Month for January: Ward 1, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burtch, 107 S. Brannan; Ward 2, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eason, West 16th; Ward 3, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Glanton, 614 West Avenue B. The plaque for Ward 4 has been lost, so no winner was named for that area.

Spring fashions suggest the provocative look

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Hardy Amies, dressmaker by appointment to Queen Elizabeth II, opened London's spring-summer couture season today with a suggestion that women be more provocative in their evening dress.

Provocative to Amies means silk crepe de chine culottes and bra tops — with cover-up shirts for the chilly and chaste — and sleeveless, waisted chiffons plunging generously to the waist at the bust and the back. Amies' boutique collection also featured dark organzas — printed, embroidered, smocked at the waist and frilled at the sleeve.

These less expensive dresses, starting at around $240, out-sparked the couture creations at roughly double the price.

The designer's evening couture was disappointingly old hat. There were black off-the-shoulder satins, spotted organzas and taffetta, formal frills worn with last year's spots, and the traditional ballgowns that demand stately bosoms and iron-gray hair.

Amies' day wear, however, was a shot in the arm for couture.

He showed simple, splendidly tailored shirtwaists and blazers, hip-pleated dresses and jackets, suits and print blouses in navy, navy and brown, brown and cream.

His chalky pinks and blues looked better last year. The combinations of stripes and checks did, too.

Favorite materials were flannels and silks, fine gabardines and wool hopsacks, printed woools and silk-wool blends.

Coats were cut slim and easy for city wear, often with elaborate back pleats.

But there were cries of "Oh! Lovely!" when the designer paraded his mohairs.

These were large and soft in pink and blue, orange and green checks, wrapped-around and belted, and warm with printed dresses in similar but sharper shades.

About $670 for the coat, and $515 for the dress.

Bridge winners

The Hope Duplicate Bridge Club met in the Rudy Pick home on Monday, Jan. 15 with 7½ tables of players. Winning couples were:

Kilmer bears burden of being Super Bowl goat

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — No player has more incentive in Sunday's Pro Bowl than maligned Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer, who has become something of a public dart board because of his three intercepted passes in Super Bowl VII.

Kilmer was the butt of joke after joke Wednesday at a press luncheon, hosting the National Conference and American Conference All-Stars who meet in Texas Stadium.

"Kilmer, coach (Tom) Landry has given you your assignment for Sunday—you get to breakup the wedge," said emcee Frank Gliber.

Alex Hawkins, former player for Pittsburgh and Baltimore, said "Billy throws a ball that's easy to catch. You have the option of catching it on either end."

Even Jack Scott, the Miami safety who intercepted two Kilmer passes to win the Most Valuable Player Award and an automobile, said "Billy wants an extra set of keys to the car."

Kilmer tried a verbal comeback, saying "I saw Landry's playbook and noticed the crackback is still in there."

The "crackback" block used by Dallas during the regular season stirred resentment among the Washington players after linebacker Jack Pardee was injured.

But then Kilmer was intercepted again when he said about the Pro Bowl "I like being on any team with Larry Brown on it."

Redskin running back Brown had to withdraw from the game early in the week because of injury.

Kilmer said that he is trying to shake off the burden of being a Super Bowl goat.

"I have a lot of football to play yet," he said. "I will think about it, but I won't worry about it. If it continues to linger with me, I won't be much of a football player."

"We were one of two teams to make it (Super Bowl). We can be proud of that ... It would be a very big error on our part to let one game bother us the rest of our lives. By God, we got there. It wasn't a lost season."

Kilmer said of the 14-7 loss to Miami that for some reason Washington was emotionally flat.

"It always seems the Super Bowl is anti-climatic after you win the league title," Kilmer said. "I don't think there's really been a good Super Bowl played. Emotionally, both teams seemed to be out of it. This one didn't seem to feel like a regular season or playoff game, either."

Kilmer said Washington had excellent practices "but between Friday and Sunday, something was lost ... that old spark we had."

NFL looking at Memphis for new home for franchise

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis sports promoter Michael E. Lynn III says he is heating up his efforts to gain a National Football League franchise for Memphis.

Lynn said Wednesday he will attend a league meeting this weekend in Dallas and also will be at a March meeting in Scottsdale, Ariz., to take part in expansion talk.

and Lynn, who heads Mid-South Sports, Inc., said he hopes the league will blossom to include 30 to 32 teams.

Franchises are also being sought by Tampa, Fla., Seattle, Wash., and Phoenix.

Additionally, Lynn said his firm will sponsor two NFL exhibition games. A game between the Detroit Lions and Baltimore Colts will be played Aug. 13, and one between the New York Jets and New Orleans Saints Aug. 31, 1974.

However, Lynn said, "We are not in the business of sponsoring NFL preseason games. We are in the business of securing an NFL franchise for Memphis."

During February, Lynn said he will visit all NFL owners seeking to convince them that now is the time to expand and that Memphis should be seriously considered for a franchise site.

The NFL now has 26 teams,

Rick Barry sets new shooting record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rick Barry came up with a sore shooting arm Wednesday night, so he only scored 51 points as Golden State defeated Houston 123-117 in National Basketball Association play.

Barry poured in 34 points in the first half for the Warriors, but his right arm stiffened during the intermission and he had a cold third quarter. His 51 points—which included 24 field goals—set a record for the San Antonio Convention Center Arena, where the Rockets are playing a number of their home games.

It also was Barry's highest scoring total since returning to the NBA after playing the past four seasons in the American Basketball Association.

Nate Thurmond, the Warriors' center who is acting as player-coach while Al Attles is out with the flu, scored 27 points and hauled in 18 rebounds.

Houston had seven players scoring in double figures, led by Don Smith with 21 points.

In other NBA games, Seattle edged Detroit 106-104, Boston whipped Portland 117-99 and Atlanta topped Philadelphia 122-105.

In ABA action, the New York Nets defeated Denver 102-92 and Utah tripped Kentucky 117-104.

Seattle's John Brisker and Spencer Haywood had themselves a happy homecoming.

Brisker, a Detroit schoolboy, sank a pair of free throws with six seconds left as the Super-Sonics nipped the Pistons. Haywood, who played at the University of Detroit before jumping to the American Basketball Association and then on to the Sonics, scored 18 points.

Brisker had 21 and Dick Snyder added 18 as Seattle registered its third victory in its last four games for new Sonics Coach Morris Buckwalter, who replaced Tom Nissalke one week ago.

Dave Cowens tossed in 35 points and grabbed 20 rebounds as the Celtics extended their winning streak to seven games. John Havlicek added 24 points for Boston, while Geoff Petrie was high man for Portland with 20.

Philadelphia led 91-89 going at the start of the fourth quarter, but Atlanta then reeled off nine straight points and was not in trouble again.

Rookie guard Brian Taylor scored 25 points and forward George Carter added 21 for the Nets, who held a 90-67 lead with 6:45 to go and then coasted home.

Ron Boone scored 32 points as Utah overcame a 14-point deficit and went on to beat the Colonels.

Going for two

Marshall Scott, above, managed to shake his guard and get a shot at the net in Tuesday night's B team action against Arkadelphia. Arkadelphia was the victor with a final tally of 44 to 35. Mike Hopson and Clay O'Steen shared high score honors with eight points each. In the second game of the evening Arkadelphia downed the Bobcats 58 to 49. Shelton Cole was the leading Bobcat scorer with 18 points. More Hope basketball action is slated for tonight at Jones Field House when the 8th and 9th grade boys meet Arkadelphia. Game time is 6 p.m.

Philadelphia Eagles have a new coach

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Big Mike McCormack has a big job in trying to make a winner of the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles.

The 6-foot-4, 265-pound former Washington Redskins assistant signed a three-year contract Wednesday as head coach of the Eagles, a team that hasn't had a winning record since 1966.

The Eagles of 1972 were next-to-last both offensively and defensively in the NFL's National Conference. The team finished last in the East with a 2-11-1 record, setting league record lows for total points (145) touchdowns (12), and average points per game (10.2). The team scored only two touchdowns rushing (one on a quarterback sneak), failed to win at home, and slipped from 32 quarterback sacks in 1971 to 16.

If that isn't enough for McCormack to contemplate, the Eagles suffered their worst defeat in the 39-year history of the team, a 62-10 drubbing by the New York Giants, a game in which fired coach Ed Khayat said the players quit.

Is McCormack apprehensive? "I expect to win next season," said the husky former Cleveland Browns tackle, who made the Pro Bowl squad six times while clearing the way for former NFL great Jim Brown. "I'm an eternal optimist," McCormack told his first news conference as Eagles' head man.

McCormack said he has the authority to run the Eagles' football operation, make trades, final say on the draft, anything connected with player personnel. He said he will ask for advice, but the final say is his.

McCormack played his college football at Kansas and was the first draft choice in 1951 of the old New York Yanks. He later was traded to Cleveland and played eight seasons under Brown. He worked in insurance, and as a part time assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs before joining the Redskins in 1966.

McCormack said his impression of the Eagles, based on three games against the Redskins last season, was that the team had as good a defense as the Skins faced all season up to the Super Bowl game against Miami. He plans to go to work on the sick offense starting with the Jan. 30 player draft.

Wins Halas Trophy

'Mean Joe' Green is top defender

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (NEA) — He came into the National Football League with a ready-made reputation. He was Mean Joe Greene, the smiling terror from Temple, Tex. And right from the start it was apparent he would be one of the great ones.

Now, having completed his fourth regular season as a defensive tackle for the Pittsburgh Steelers, Joe Greene stands at the pinnacle. He has been voted the George Halas Trophy as the outstanding defensive player in professional football.

It wasn't even close. The two men tied for the runner-up spot, linebacker Chris Hanburger of the Washington Redskins and linebacker Dave Wilcox of the San Francisco 49ers, each received one-fourth of the support given Greene.

The balloting was conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association among the team captains and player representatives of the 26 NFL teams, in cooperation with the NFL Players Association.

The honor, inaugurated by NEA in 1966 to recognize the growing role of defense in pro ball, has gone to such modern greats as Larry Wilson, Deacon Jones, Dick Butkus and Carl Eller.

Greene is a logical bearer of the defensive tradition. The Steelers this year moved to their first division championship in history because of a development which began with the drafting of Mean Joe as their No. 1 choice in 1969. He was the anchor of the building program by coach Chuck Noll, who arrived the same year.

Led by his charge at the defensive left tackle, the Steelers have come up with a ferocious pass rush which led the American Football Conference in sacking the quarterback this season and also cut off the opposition from scoring touchdowns in seven of the 14 games on the regular season schedule.

Mean Joe is a 6-4, 270-pound specimen with great agility and speed. He was a unanimous All-American at North Texas State, where he picked up his nickname. Actually, Joe claims it belonged to the team, whose color was green, hence the Mean Green, and the name simply was transferred to him individually.

He did nothing to dispel its connotation his rookie year with the Steelers when he was twice thrown out of games, first for putting the slug on quarterback Fran Tarkenton of the Giants with an elbow, second for mixing with guard Jim Vellone of the Vikings, and then that winter he spit at a Pittsburgh sports writer with whose observations he disagreed.

Nevertheless he was the defensive rookie of the year and made the Pro Bowl and he has made it every year since. The truth is, Joe Greene is not an extraordinarily pugna person. But he does have the natural combativeness which every defensive lineman must have to exist in the so-called "pit" of pro football.

"Going after the quarterback," he has said, "is like playing king of the mountain. When you get the quarterback, you're on top of the mountain. He's the brains of the team. I learned a long time ago that if you kill the head, the body will die."

"Actually, I have one aim in football—to beat the ball to the ball carrier. I don't know how to do it, but I keep trying."

He has acquired the sophistication that comes from playing his position several years—not getting suckered on traps, recognizing the draw, dropping off against the screen, but nevertheless pursuing his main function of breaking into the enemy backfield.

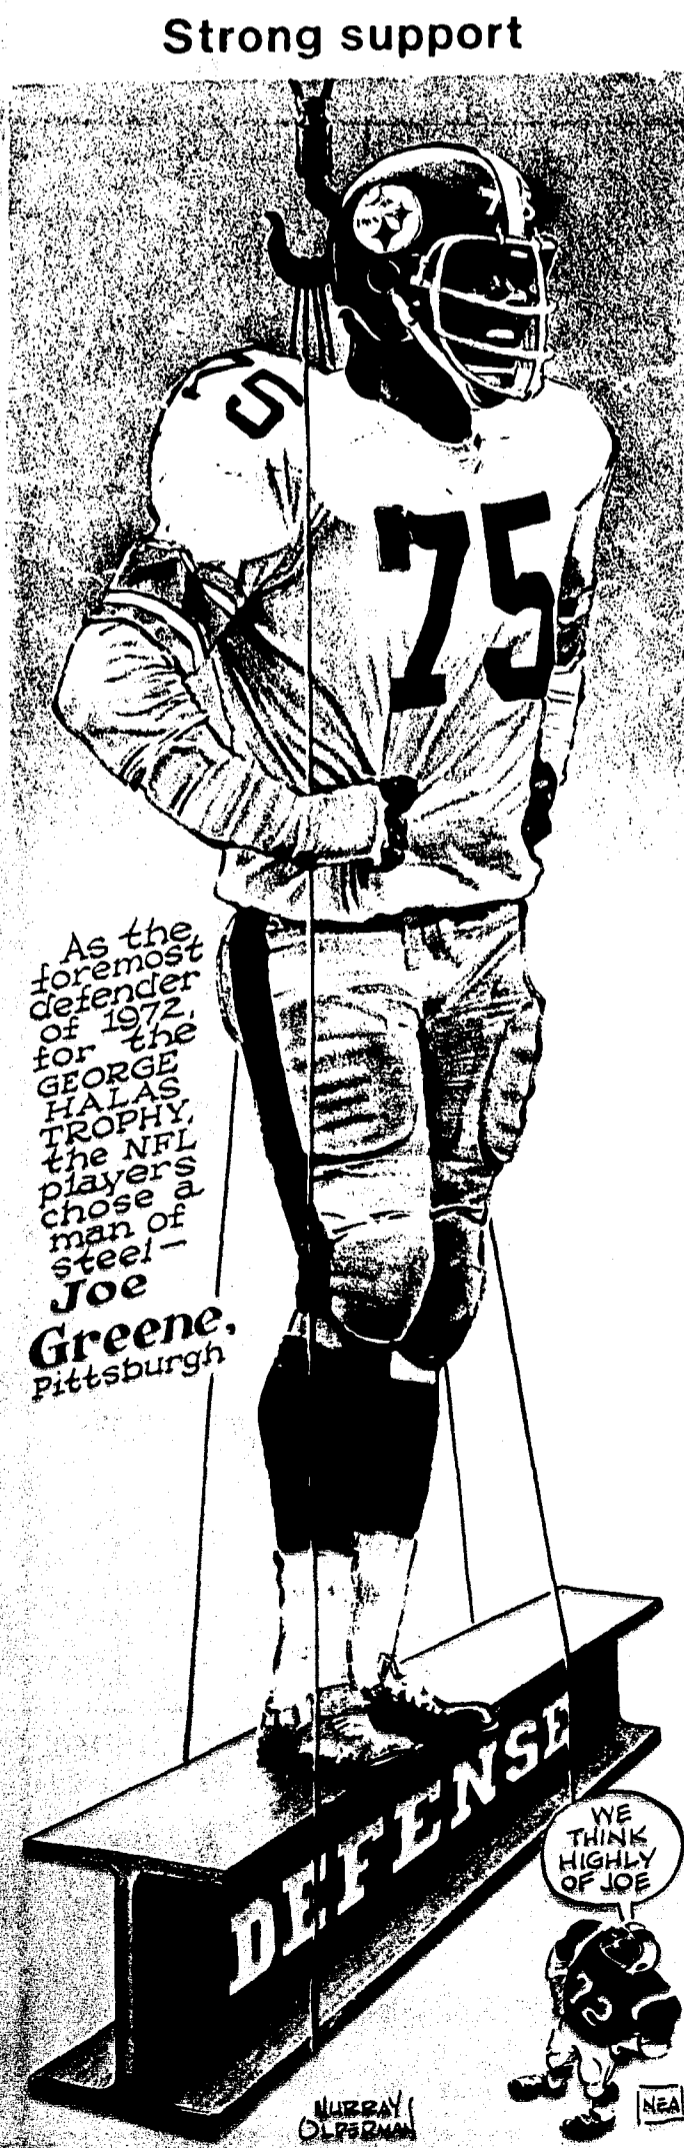

And he thinks he has pretty much squelched his bad-boy image. "I don't hate anybody," says Joe. "I'm loose, easy going. But if a guy takes a shot at me, I might go back and get him."

Especially if the guy happens to have the football.

Joe will receive his trophy symbolic of the Halas award at the Pro Bowl in Dallas Jan. 21.

Past winners of the George Halas Trophy have been as follows: 1966—Larry Wilson, St. Louis; 1967-68—Deacon Jones, Los Angeles; 1969-70—Dick Butkus, Chicago; 1971—Carl Eller, Minnesota.

Frazier won't hurt him Foreman says

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — George Foreman doesn't think world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier can do what amateur Bob Winter did. And that is knock him down in their title fight Monday night.

Foreman recalled Winter before going to the gym Wednesday and beating up on a sparring partner, Jamaican heavyweight champion Carl Baker.

In the second round of their sparring session, Foreman caught Baker with a left hook to the head and a right hand to the body, which Baker claimed was low, and then landed a flurry of punches while Baker was caught in the ropes. Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler, jumped into the ring and stopped it.

"That ring is altogether a different world of its own," Foreman said of the incident. "Some vicious things happen there to each and every one of us."

But in 37 pro fights, all of them victories, 34 by knockout, the ring has not been violent for Foreman. He said he has never been hurt in a pro fight and doesn't expect to be hurt by Frazier, at least not badly enough to keep him from winning.

"But I took a couple of good shots as an amateur," Foreman remembered. "In my third amateur fight, in the first round this guy (Winter) walked out and clobbered me with a left hook. Knocked me flat."

Frank Shorter wins Sullivan Award

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Frank Shorter decided to take up long distance running two years ago in an effort to make the Olympic team, and the decision resulted in him being presented the Sullivan Award Wednesday as the nation's outstanding amateur athlete of 1972.

Shorter, 25, who prepared for his winning effort in the 26-mile Olympic marathon race by jogging with his wife, Louise, polled 1,895 points from 1,500 voters in the Amateur Athletic Union voting.

Second in the balloting was Olympic gold medal freestyle wrestler Dan Gable of Waterloo, Iowa, with 1,577 points.

Swimmer Mark Spitz, the 1971 Sullivan Award winner who claimed seven gold medals in the 1972 Olympics, was ineligible for the award because of a no-repeat rule.

Gold medal woman diver Micki King of Hermosa Beach, Calif., was third in the vote with 1,104 points, followed by gold medal swimmer Michael Burton of Sacramento, Calif., with 1,012 points.

Oscar Robertson: Just a medium-sized 'o' now

OSCAR ROBERTSON, right, still can go the basket when the spirit moves him, as he shows here in muscling past Nate Thurmond of the Warriors.

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Of the avalanche of accolades that has fallen upon Oscar Robertson, perhaps the best was the one by the doctor in Cincinnati who had crippling arthritis. He said that the only time he did not experience pain was when he sat in Cincinnati Gardens and watched Robertson play basketball.

This was several years ago, when Robertson played for the Cincinnati Royals, was the Cincinnati Royals; when he epitomized power and finesse and it was said by such colleagues as Bill Russell and Bob Cousy and Bob Pettit and Jerry West that all-around, Robertson was the greatest basketball player to ever string up a sneaker. (Less inspirational than the doctor's testimony, but also significant.)

This is Robertson's 13th year in the National Basketball Association. He is a much different player today from yesterday. Once he was the entire offense of the Royals, shooting and passing and controlling the game. Now, as guard for the Milwaukee Bucks, he defers the offensive honors to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Instead of penetrating as he once did, Robertson is content to stay outside and loft passes to the 7-3 center.

For Robertson, now 34 years old, there are other changes. Toward the end of close games, he rarely takes the initiative. Once he was Jim Dandy to the rescue. Now, he sometimes seems to be playing in mud.

"Of course I've got to be a little slower," he said recently at lunch. "I'm older. I feel it in certain plays. I'll think too much. Once it was all instinct. Now there's a fraction of a second more for thought."

Like most NBA players, Robertson has continually played in pain. Knee aches.

Olympic heroine Olga Korbout Female Athlete of the Year

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Olga Korbout, the spirited sprite of the Soviet gymnastics team at the 1972 Summer Games, is
The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year.

Miss Korbout, winner of three gold medals and a silver medal at the Munich Olympics, outpolled American tennis rebel Billie Jean King, reigning queen of the courts, 222 to 202 in balloting by sportswriters and broadcasters released
Wednesday. Olympic swimmer Shane Gould of Australia was third with 118 votes.

The Olympic heroine, virtually unknown before the Munich Games, was hailed at the close of competition as being on the horizon of historic greatness.

"Olga is going places," said
United States gymnast Cathy Higby. "Undoubtedly she's their protégé."

But there now is speculation that the 84-pound, 4-foot-11 acrobat may never compete again.
Miss Korbout suffered a back injury during a December workout and was reported recuperating at a health resort in the Caucasian Republic of Tskhal-tubo.

Official Soviet sources said she was unavailable to discuss her injury or comment on being the first Iron Curtain athlete to receive the AP award since it was initiated in 1931.

Olga, a 17-year-old schoolgirl from the town of Grodno near the Polish border, performed in nearly flawless fashion at Munich in winning gold medals for the balance beam and floor exercises with scores of 9.90 of a possible 10.

But it was while competing in her favorite event, the uneven parallel bars that she won the hearts of viewers around the world—and lost a chance for two more gold medals.

With pigtails flying, Miss Korbout flipped and flung with apparent ease, then fell to the floor in a heap. She was up in a flash and finished her routine then left in a flood of tears. The golden girl lost her chance for the coveted over-all individual honors.

The next day she tied East German Karin Janz with a 9.80 on the bars in individual competition.

Tigers turn to lambs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Long before the Clemson Tigers' basketball team came to New York, Frank Mulzoff had their number.

"We had them scouted and saw them destroyed by a pressing defense," said the coach of 17th-ranked St. John's.

Guess what the Redmen used
Wednesday night to destroy Clemson 87-59?

"Sure, it was no surprise that we would do it," said Mulzoff, whose club broke open a one-point game with a 58-point explosion in the second half.

Leading only 29-28 at intermission, St. John's outscored the Atlantic Coast Conference visitors by 27 points in the second half as the Tigers turned to lambs. Bill Schaeffer led the slaughter, pitching in 14 of his game-high 21 points in the second period.

St. John's was one of five ranked teams in action Wednesday night. In the other games, fourth-ranked North Carolina romped to a 99-80 victory over Wake Forest; No. 18 Vanderbilt scored a 59-49 victory over Mississippi; 19th-ranked Florida State trimmed Seton 84-67 and 20th-ranked Louisville nipped Dayton 74-73.

Elsewhere, St. Joseph's Pa. beat Bowling Green 61-60 in overtime; Penn turned back Villanova 77-69; Marshall swamped Miami of Ohio 90-70;
Harvard trimmed Dartmouth
90-83; Fordham slammed Steu-Hall 96-78; Brigham Young posted a 93-83 decision over Niagara; American University topped Navy 73-62 and Notre Dame beat Pittsburgh 85-76 in overtime.

Freshman Mitch Kupchak led a second-half burst as North Carolina buried ACC colleague
Wake Forest. Leading only 42-36 at the half, the Tar Heels charged away from the Deacons behind Kupchak, who scored 24 points overall. Wake Forest's Tony Byers led all scorers with 30 points.

Bill Ligon helped Vanderbilt beat Mississippi with a 21-point night. Ole Miss failed to score a point in the final seven minutes in the Southeastern Conference game. Coolidge Ball and Dean Hudson led the losers with 14 points each.

Freshman Greg Grady came off the bench late in the first half to spark Florida State Seton led by 10 points before Grady came into the game and reeled off seven straight points.
He turned from point-taker to shot-blocker at the start of the second half, helping shoot the Seminoles into a runaway lead.

Bill Butler scored 20 points.
Allen Murphy, 18 and Terry Howard, 14 to lead Louisville over Dayton. Mike Sylvester had a game-high 26 for Dayton.

legs are sore, feet burn, arm is heavy, head is weary — the travel, the interminable games and lights and screams and cities and running into picks and an elbow in the eye rebounding.

Now, Robertson must sit out games that he once suffered through. A gambler of my acquaintance told me of inside dope he once received.
A friend of his was a butcher in Cincinnati whose sometime customer was Robertson's wife. Once she told him that Oscar had the flu and a sprained ankle and he probably wouldn't play that night.
The butcher called the gambler. This is the kind of inside dope sporting investors would give their bookie's left arm for. The gambler bet against the Royals. Alas, Robertson did play and had his usual (in those days) game: 30 points, 10 rebounds,

10 assists. Royals won.

It was painful in last year's playoffs against Los Angeles to watch Robertson on the bench as the Bucks went down to defeat. Robertson sat with a groin pull that made even walking agonizing.

Robertson's remarkable offensive consistency over the first 11 years of his career (before being traded to Milwaukee) has made him the second highest scorer in NBA history (only Wilt Chamberlain has scored more points) — and the No. 1 assists man ever in the NBA, among a bushful of records.

But for the third straight season Robertson's scoring average is less than 20 points a game. A purist laments that his 30-point average for the first 10 years could not be continued.

"I'm happy to be winning and scoring 16 a game," Robertson said. For years he did not win a championship.
Not until he and Abdul-Jabbar teamed up. (And in a rare moment of exultation, in the locker room celebration after the Bucks won the NBA title in 1971, Robertson exclaimed, "They can never say that I'm not a winner.")

He says he may play one more year. "Unless I'm injured so bad I can't go on.
Then I'll call it quits after this season. I don't think I'll be a Johnny Green. Although,
I think it's great Johnny is still playing at what, 40?
It's a great thing to make a living of doing what you love.
Johnny does it. So do I.

"But I've got other things
I want to do. I'm thinking about real estate, when I'm finished. Getting poor people into good housing and at the same time creating jobs for people. And I want to be a success at it. By success I mean being happy. And no, I won't stay in basketball as an executive. I've worked too hard and too many years on the other side (as NBA player representative) to go into the front office."

Returning to his basketball records, Robertson said, "I don't feel too bad that they are dropping. It's to be expected. I'm getting older, my career is almost over.

"But you know, it happens to everybody."

What's that, he was asked;
what happens to everybody?

"Autumn," said Robertson.

'Daylight' extension proposed

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional boosters of a plan to extend Daylight Saving Time to a year-round basis say their chances are better than ever because of increasing crime and the nation's fuel shortage.

The extra hour of daylight on winter afternoons would hamper purse snatchers and muggers who prey on late-afternoon pedestrians and it would reduce the use of electric lights in office buildings, they say.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., planned to introduce in the House today a bill to extend DST from its present six-months-a-year status to a full-time basis. DST is in operation in virtually all the states from the last Sunday of April to the last Sunday of October.

Hosmer's office said 31 other House members had agreed to sponsor the legislation as of Wednesday night. The bill that died in the last Congress had 14 sponsors.

One of the most important names on the bill is that of Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee that must first consider the bill.

"I've been sponsoring this bill for several years in the hope that sooner or later its time would come," Hosmer said in a statement Wednesday. "This year may be it."

Moss, who was cool toward similar legislation in the past, said the fuel shortage is the primary reason he has decided to back the measure this year.

"I think at a time when we are admittedly faced with an energy crisis it makes very good sense to have year-round Daylight Saving Time," Moss said.

Moss explained that under Daylight Saving Time big office buildings, for example, could take advantage of sunlight until later in the day.

Sane? Insane? Who can actually say?

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Writer
STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Who's sane? Who's insane?

The psychiatrists and staffs of mental hospitals cannot be trusted to tell the difference, declares Prof. David L. Rosenhan, a Stanford University psychologist.

Rosenhan says he and seven other sane investigators arranged as a test to be admitted as schizophrenic patients in 12 different mental hospitals, yet none of the eight was found to be sane by hospital professionals.

But Rosenhan says it was "quite common" for actual psychiatric patients to correctly identify the "pseudopatients" imposters.

"The fact that patients often recognized normality when staff did not raised important questions," Rosenhan observes.

Rosenhan reports on the findings of the study in an article in the Jan. 19 issue of Science magazine.

Rosenhan said he and his seven colleagues eventually were released as "schizophrenics in remission," despite their best efforts to convince the hospital staff of their sanity.

"We now know that we cannot distinguish insanity from sanity," Rosenhan declared.

"We continue to label patients 'schizophrenic,' manic-depressive,' and 'insane' as if in those words we had captured the essence of understanding," he wrote.

"The facts of the matter are that we have known for a long time that our diagnoses often are not useful or reliable, but we have nevertheless continued to use them."

Rosenhan, who also teaches law at Stanford, said he and the other pseudopatients were shocked and horrified by their experiences.

But, he said, they did not blame the hospital staffs.

"By and large, they were well-intentioned people, and in no way do we want to malign them," he said.

"The hospital itself imposes a special environment in which the meanings of behavior can easily be misunderstood."

'Clinic' set for Friday

A "grassland clinic" will be held Friday, Jan. 19, according to Calvin J. Caldwell, county extension agent. The clinic to be held at the third District Livestock Show Coliseum, will get underway at 10 a.m. There will be a free barbecue beef lunch served as a courtesy of the Citizens National Bank, First National Bank, and the Production Credit Association all of Hope.

The clinic is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with leaders of the Hempstead County Beef Cattlemen's Association and Hempstead County Farm Bureau.

Topics at the clinic will include information on pasture weed control, establishment and maintenance; year round pastures, fertilization, and livestock diseases associated with forages. The panel of Cooperative Extension Service specialists all from Little Rock are: Dr. Harold Hurst, Extension Agronomist; Dr. David Ibsen, Extension Veterinarian; Harry Wellhausen, Extension Agronomist; Dr. Stanley Chapman, Extension Soil Specialist; and Dr. Waymon Halbrook, Associate Professor, Agricultural Economics and Sociology, University of Arkansas Fayetteville, Ark. Fayetteville, Arkansas.

All cattle producers of the county are urged to attend the clinic the County Agent said.

The enormous horns of the highborn ram are among the most remarkable in the animal kingdom. They grow in a continuous curve and in old males will come to a full circle, sometimes a circle and a half.

Not all the protestors are young

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Rebecca Shelley, a grandmotherly figure in black who has fought war for nearly 60 years, has taken up a lonely, chilly vigil at the American Embassy here. She plans to protest the Vietnam war until her 86th birthday Saturday.

Mrs. Shelley, who lives on a farm near Battle Creek, Mich., turned up Wednesday noon at the gates of the embassy, wearing a protest sign attached to her coat. The sign read: "Mourning the war dead. Repenting the crimes of my people."

Because Islamabad is a special city built for diplomats and off the beaten track of most Pakistanis, Mrs. Shelley drew little notice, but she said she planned to keep her vigil at the gate for one hour daily until Saturday. Then she will go back to her task of trying to meet President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto to persuade him to let the Pakistani military be tried before an international tribunal for war crimes in Bangladesh.

"I am for mourning before all the embassies of the world," said Mrs. Shelley, who despite her age remains remarkably vigorous. "I am not for throwing stones at embassies."

Embassy officials and employees went in and out of the five-story white building without commenting about the tiny figure in black.

Mrs. Shelley has worn black to protest war and atrocities ever since she arrived in the South Asian subcontinent two years ago. She visited Bangladesh and met the prime minister, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman. In India she spoke with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

She has been trying to see Bhutto since her arrival here in May, but suspects his aides believe she is too pro-Bangladesh.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand that would have been easy to bid to three-no-trump back in the thirties. North would respond two hearts (a one-round force) and rebid to three clubs after South went to two no-trump. South would continue to three no-trump and the hand would play there.

It is just as easy to reach three no-trump by the use of the Jacoby transfer. North's two diamonds is the transfer to hearts and his three-club bid shows the two-suit nature of his hand.

South has nearly all his strength in spades and diamonds and goes to three no-trump. North has told his story and passes.

You may also land at three

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	3 N.T.	Pass	3 ♥
Dble	Pass	4 ♦	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ A Q 8 7 5 ♦ A 3 2 ♣ K Q 7

What do you do now?

A—Double. This looks like money from home.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three no-trump, your partner has bid three spades. What do you do now?

GERALD KEITH

Gerald Keith guest speaker at Kiwanis

Gerald Keith, Hope city Manager, was the guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting. Program Chairman George Wright Jr., introduced the speaker. Keith reviewed something of where we have been, where we stand at the present time, and where we hope to go as a community. He discussed plans under Public Utilities, Public Safety, Public Health, Public Recreation, Public Works, and Public Administration. "Our public utilities are the greatest source of revenue", he said. The Commission is exploring ways and means of providing a sufficient water supply other than deep wells, and two large and new sewage disposal or treatment plants with much larger lines are in the works.

No addition to the police or fire departments are anticipated at present, but the police facilities must be improved and eventually a new fire station or sub station must be provided on the North side of town.

A better garbage disposal system is in the planning stages.

There will be an early expenditure of about $75,000 for improvements at Fair Park, and the acquisition of additional park space is being studied.

In the public works field street improvement, work at the airport, and the operation of a Parking Authority were among the items mentioned.

Personnel and safety training courses are being instituted for all city employees, and plans are being made for the expansion of physical facilities at City Hall.

At Tuesday's meeting perfect attendance tabs were presented to sixteen members of the club, ranging from one to thirty years of perfect attendance. Six members are responsible for a total of 169 years of perfect attendance, and the perfect attendance of the 16 totals 262 years.

Jim Allen of El Dorado and Carl Daily of Texarkana were guests at the Tuesday meeting and Key Clubbers Randy Hollis and Gary Rhodes attended.

REV. GORDON RENSHAW

Group meets with Lions

Rev. Gordon Renshaw and three members of the group that attended the Regional Drug Education Training and Resource Center in Miami, Fla. provided the program at the Monday luncheon of the Lion's Club at the Town and Country Restaurant.

Those attending the drug education meeting were: Doug and Deanna Haynie, Paul Henley, and Willie Walker. Mr. and Mrs. Haynie representing the retail drug business and the elementary schools, Henley of Hope Parks and recreation and Willie Walker, a high school student.

The meeting was the 10th of such conferences and representatives from Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, and North and South Carolina were present, the Hope group being the only ones from Arkansas.

The group was quartered in the Miami Springs Inn, four to the room, when possible, for a two week stay.

Those attending the meeting learned that alcohol is still the number one offender and that misuse and abuse of legal drugs affected far greater numbers of people than the illegal drugs such as LSD and marijuana.

There are many problems in controlling, regulating and teaching about the drug problem, and the speakers felt that they were better equipped from having attended the conference.

Rev. Renshaw presented each speaker and has been leading in the communities work in drug education.

The program was arranged by program chairman Calvin Smith.

Lion "Chuck" Mullins of DeQueen was a visitor and Bob Willis of Hope was the guest of Lion Dale Wylie and Marvin Arterberry was the guest of Lion Alvin Willis.

Hamilton admitted to bar

Samuel C. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamilton, of Hope, was recently admitted, after passing a two-day law examination, to the Maryland State Bar.

This entitles Hamilton to practice before any court in the State system.

A native of Hope, Hamilton graduated from Yerger High School in 1954 as valedictorian of his class. He later attended Philander Smith College in Little Rock, where he received the BS degree in 1958 graduating with honors and distinction in the field of natural science. He spent 28 months in the U.S. Army. In 1967 Hamilton decided to return to school to study law. In June of 1970 he received the Juris Doctor degree from Howard University School of Law.

Mrs. Ruby H. Whitley of Hope attended her brother's swearing-in ceremony recently held in Annapolis, Md.

Hope native is honor graduate

Mary Brenda Cannon, 21, a native of Hope and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Cannon, now of Homosassa Springs, Fla., was graduated from Louisiana State University in December with a trio of the highest honors the University can bestow.

She received her bachelor's degree with summa cum laude honors, becoming the first student in LSU history to earn this highest honor conferred upon LSU graduates.

Miss Cannon, whose major field is Spanish language and literature, is also the 12th person in LSU history to take all undergraduate work at the University and graduate with a perfect straight "A" average.

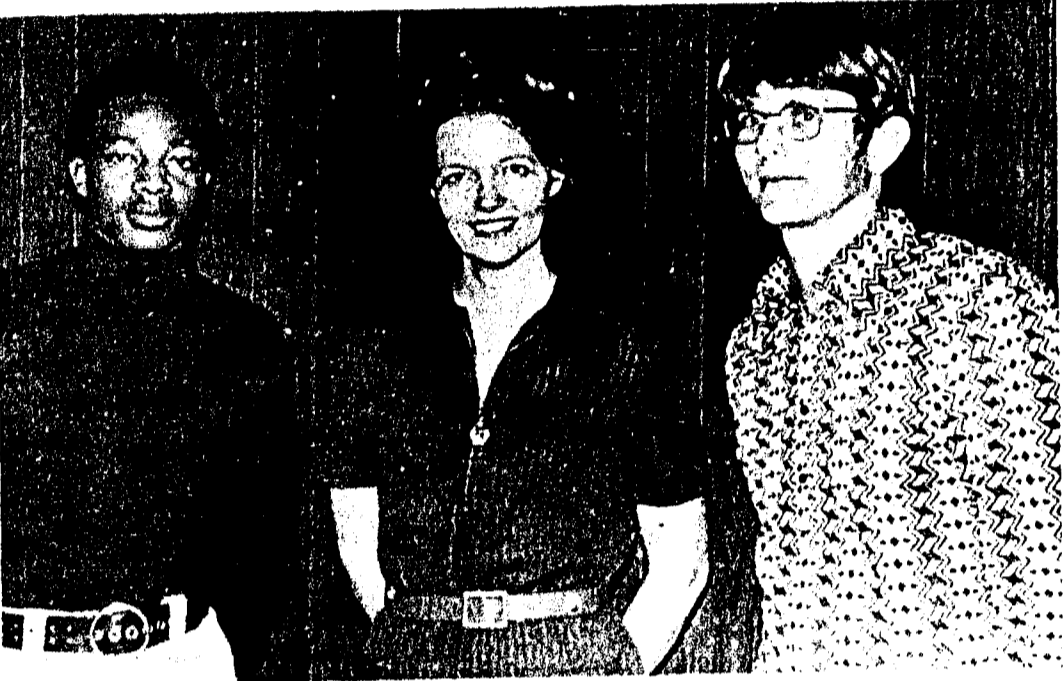

rael after a six-day journey which took her to Paris, Rome and Geneva.

"After six days of such productivity, I really deserve a prize," the 74-year-old Mrs. Meir said today as she stepped from the plane at Lod Airport.

In Paris, Mrs. Meir attended a meeting of Socialist leaders. In Rome, she had an audience with Pope Paul VI and met with Italian government leaders. In Geneva, she conferred with President Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast.

She told newsmen that the pontiff had offered to do all he could for peace in the Mideast, but she said he did not offer himself as a mediator.

"Problems were raised. I'm not sure I convinced him, but I would call it a dignified, friendly, frank meeting," Mrs. Meir said.

People in the News

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu has scheduled a lavish reception at Independence Palace Friday to follow the marriage of his only daughter and Nguyen Tan Trieu, son of the director of Air Vietnam.

Thieu's daughter, Nguyen Thi Tuan Anh, and Trieu are to be married in Saigon's Catholic cathedral, with a mass to be celebrated by Archbishop Nguyen Van Binh.

The reception at Independence Palace will be followed by a banquet at the home of Trieu's parents.

Tuan Anh, 18, and Trieu, 28, are scheduled to leave for the United States soon after the wedding to study at the University of Pittsburgh, she in economics and Trieu in international affairs.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Rose Kennedy, mother of the late President John F. Kennedy, says she "married for love and got a little money along with it."

Mrs. Kennedy said she once had to break a date with the late Joseph P. Kennedy, the man she later married, for a Harvard prom because her mother insisted that she instead accompany her to Palm Beach.

"As fate would have it, I've been in Palm Beach every year since and I've still never been to a senior prom," Mrs. Kennedy told an interviewer.

"I've had an exciting life. I married for love and got a little money along with it."

Mrs. Kennedy, 82, said she is now writing her memoirs.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Both sons get same infection

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Recently within one week of each other my two sons, aged 18 and 20, came down with what the doctor said was epididymitis, starting with swelling of the throat glands and after a week of treatment, both were pronounced well but within a few hours of going off antibiotics, they began to swell in the testicles as large as an egg plant with a fever of 104°. After a week of this high temperature and pain, they were told to rest for another week. One is okay, but the 18-year-old is still sore and does not feel like working.

Would you tell me something of this and what the prognosis is. The doctor just said that it was an infection I am concerned about the 18-year-old going to college, and I feel he should postpone his schooling if necessary.

Dear Reader — Epididymitis refers to inflammation of the cordlike structure along the body of the testis. It can be inflamed, along with the body of the testicle, which is more correctly called epididymitis and orchitis. With such large swelling as you describe I would suspect that might be the case.

In young men, a common infection that is associated with swelling in the throat or neck glands followed by inflammation of the testicles with marked swelling is mumps. I can't tell from your description whether the neck swelling was mumps.

Glands that swell in the neck from mumps do so because of inflammation from the mumps virus. The same inflammatory process can cause swelling of the testicles. These individuals are pretty sick, just as you described your sons. Often there isn't a great deal one can do except provide symptomatic treatment for the discomfort until the disease has run its course. There is no way to predict whether there will be any residual damage or not until after the illness is over, and a complete examination is done.

Once the acute episode has subsided, each individual has to judge for himself how he feels and what he is able to do. If there is still considerable soreness and discomfort, perhaps it would be well to postpone any significant physical activity until the symptoms have abated.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Last night I read the letter to you from a reader who tried to do sit-up exercises with her feet up on the couch. She found it impossible to do. This morning I tried it and I did ten sit-up exercises. Later in the day I did eight more. I had no trouble at all. I am a woman 67 years young.

Dear Reader — Congratulations! That means you have relatively good abdominal muscles, and have probably taken good care of yourself. You are way ahead of the reader who couldn't do sit-up exercises with his feet on the couch or the chair. This type of sit-up exercise is particularly good to increase the amount of work the abdominal muscles have to do. If you do sit-up exercises with the legs stretched out flat on the floor, much of the work will be done by the muscles which bend the hips rather than the abdominal muscles. If one cannot do exercises with the knees bent and the feet up on the couch to prevent this occurring, a second choice is to do sit-up exercises with the knees bent and up in the air and the feet flat on the floor.
